Inglewood State School's Creative Writers

Does it have a 'sizzling start'? Have you solved the complication? Make sure you ban the boring! Are you sure it makes sense, captures the audience attention, is it correctly punctuated? Writing creatively is not as easy as it looks or reads. Many hours go into countless edits and re-writes. Writers then need to be prepared to share that writing.

The Macintyre Young Writers is one of the biggest junior writing competitions in the State. For over 20 years the Macintyre Young Writers have fostered writing in school-aged children throughout the region.

This year over 1000 entries were received and judged. Five students from Inglewood State School – Kate, Ebony, Madi, Lucas and Hannah have been rewarded for their creative writing efforts in this year's competition. Well done!

STUDENT ABSENCES

As previously advised, Education Qld has implemented a new process for managing unexplained student absences. From the start of 2017 all unexplained absences will generate a text message via a mobile phone to parents which will then have to reply with a reason. The first step in this process is making sure that our first parent contact mobile phone number is correct. Please return the detail forms to our office. We will be trialling this process from now until the end of this year. We look forward to your response and co-operation.

2017 LEVY FORM

These forms have been issued to all students. Payment is NOT required until next year. Please note if this form is not returned this year, your student will not receive the exercise books etc that are provided by the school. If your student has outstanding levies from 2016 they will NOT receive the books etc. Please ring the school office if you need more information—4652 0111.

BPL FOCUS—Week 8
Be Safe/ Be Respectful

Always listen to and follow instructions and be responsible for your actions.

2017 PREP ENROLMENTS

Please remember that a birth certificate is required before commencement for children born 1 July 2011 - 30 June 2012 to be eligible to commence 2017—this can take time to receive so please attend to promptly.

SCHOOL UNIFORM SAMPLES

We have samples of all size school shirts in our school office if you are unsure of what size to order.
